

Project Capability

Whilst we are able to supply a complete range of standard products for all applications we recognise that 'off the shelf' lighting solutions are not always what our customers want. End Users, Architects, Interior Designers and Engineers join forces to ensure that their project is the best and this means designing the luminaire to integrate perfectly with the particular requirements of the space.

As a special capabilities service within Whitecroft Lighting, we aim to develop the maximum potential in clients requirements with innovative lighting solutions. To achieve this we believe that good communication between ourselves and our clients particularly at initial stages is imperative for successful results.
